Prone / Held Combatants (p.109)

A prone combatant...

- Is +2 to be hit.
- · Is vulnerable to backstab.
- May get up instead of moving, or crawl at 5' per round.
- Attacks at -4.

A held combatant...

- Is +4 to be hit.
- Is vulnerable to backstab.

Special Maneuvers* (p.109)
Maneuver Attack Throw Modifier Save vs. Paralysis Successful Attack and/or Failed Save
Brawling	punch +0 / kick -2	no	1d3 / 1d4 nonlethal
Disarm	-4	yes	Item knocked 5' away
Force Back -4 yes <sup>1</sup> Pushed back equal to weapon damage in feet. If pushed into an obstacle, defender takes 1d6 damage per 10' traveled.
Incapacitate	-4	no	Normal weapon damage (nonlethal)
Knock Down	-4	yes	Fall prone
Overrun -4 yes¹ Continue moving. If the defender succeeds, he may block the attacker, but the attacker may then deal damage against the defender automatically.
Sunder <sup>2</sup>	-4 or -6 <sup>3</sup>	yes <sup>4</sup>	Target weapon or shield broken
Wrestling	-4	yes <sup>1</sup>	Grabbed in a wrestling hold⁵

- 1 -4 penalty if the attacker is significantly larger.
- 2 Magic weapons & shields may only be sundered by weapons with a magic bonus equal to or greater than their own.
- 3 -4 vs. staffs, spears & polearms; -6 vs. other weapons or shields.
- 4 Subtract magical bonus of sundering weapon & add bonus of target weapon or shield. Daggers, swords, & shields gain a +4 bonus to the save and staffs, spears, and polearms suffer a -4 penalty.
- 5 The attacker may perform a brawl, force back, disarm, or knock down each round without requiring an attack roll, so long as the hold continues (the defender still gets a save). A knock down or force back ends the hold unless the attacker moves with the defender. The defender may make another save each round to escape the hold.
- *The Judge should consider the implications of using maneuvers on opponents of vastly different size or unusual shape.

Evasion & Pursuit (p.99)

To determine if monsters pursue fleeing PCs in combat, make a monster reaction roll. On a result of 2-8, they pursue.

Dungeon Chases (p.100)

- A party can always successfully flee if combat has not begun and they are faster. Otherwise, handle the chase as a normal combat.
- When a creature passes through a doorway, makes a hard turn, etc., the Judge may require a save vs. Paralysis (add DEX mod). Failure: the creature falls and moves no further; it may stand up and make a full move on its Initiative in the next round.
- 3. If at any point a pursuer is within 5' (melee range) of a fleeing creature at the start of a round, they are engaged.
- Monsters will stop pursuit if PCs manage to get out of their range of vision. Monsters interested in food or treasure will stop pursuit on a 4+ on 1d6 if PCs drop such items.

Wilderness Evasion (p.100)

13 – 24	16+	0	+3	+5
25+ 19+ 0 +3 +5
*Relative to the evading party's size

Wilderness Chases (p.100)

- 1. If one party is surprised, the other party can automatically flee successfully.
- 2. Otherwise, in order for one party to escape from another, it must make a successful throw on the Wilderness Evasion table. The fleeing side always has at least a 5% chance of escape (20 on 1d20).
- 2. The Judge may modify the probabilities based on conditions and environment.
- 3. If a fleeing party does not successfully escape, then the other group catches up close with a throw of 11+ on 1d20 if they are faster. If this roll fails, then the fleeing side may again attempt to escape. This cycle is repeated daily until either one side escapes or the other manages to catch up.
